Meridian Financial to Open New 80,000 SF Headquarters in Ballantyne by October

By Sarah Mitchell, Staff Writer Meridian Financial Group, one of Charlotte's largest independent financial advisory firms, will relocate its headquarters to a new 80,000-square-foot build-to-suit office in the Ballantyne Corporate Park, the company confirmed this week. The firm, which currently occupies approximately 76,000 square feet across three floors at SouthPark Centre on Sharon Road, signed a 15-year lease for the new space at Ballantyne Corporate Center. The move is part of a broader expansion that will bring the firm's Charlotte headcount from 340 to approximately 425 employees. "We've outgrown our current space and Ballantyne offers the kind of campus environment our team is looking for," said Marcus Webb, CEO of Meridian Financial Group. "The new headquarters will feature collaborative workspaces, a client center, and room to grow." The new facility is expected to be ready for occupancy by October 2026, according to Webb. The firm will begin moving departments in phases starting in late September. Meridian's departure from SouthPark Centre will create one of the larger vacancy blocks in the SouthPark submarket. The Sharon Road building, a 280,000-square-foot Class B+ office tower built in 2001, is currently being marketed for sale by Crestline Advisors. The Ballantyne build-to-suit was brokered by Ashford Partners. Financial terms were not disclosed, though sources familiar with the transaction said the lease rate is in line with Class A asking rents in the Ballantyne submarket.
